Director - Cloud Platform GE Healthcare

Tiffany Dillon is Director – Enterprise Cloud at GE Healthcare, where she provides leadership, strategy, delivery, and operational management of the cloud portfolio. She partners with CIO, Digital IT and Healthcare product teams to deliver innovative cloud products and services to enable the execution of business priorities.

Tiffany is an accomplished and versatile technology leader with over 20 years of experience that span security, infrastructure, development, and regulated environments. She uses her strong communication and diversity skills to develop others through embracing change and challenging opportunities that drive successful results. Her relationship building and mentoring capabilities were put to the test when she joined GE Healthcare in April 2020 remotely. Tiffany is a true change agent that finds ways to work differently to exceed expected business outcomes financially, culturally, and personally.

Tiffany has a bachelor's degree in Management Information Systems from the University of Wisconsin - Milwaukee. She serves on the Executive Board of Directors for The Gathering of Southeastern WI. She's a member of United Way – Technology United, MKE Tech Hub Coalition K-20 Committee, and Mentor – i.c.stars.

Tiffany has done many public speaking events to represent the IT security industry and attract new people to the field. She's committed to mentoring peers, team members and students on IT and non-IT skills. She's an advocate working to address STEM and food disparity in her community.

Tiffany and her husband love travel and work on home projects. They spend as much time possible with their sons who are in college.
